As Literacy Volunteers of Bangor celebrates 40 years of service, providing free one-on-one tutoring services to adults in the Bangor area, it is making plans for its 40th anniversary and annual recognition night at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 2, at Husson University in Bangor.

As part of this celebration, Executive Director Mary Marin Lyon reports, the organization is “calling our alumni: All former students, tutors, volunteers and leaders ... to join us in celebrating our Ruby Anniversary year.”

“We want to hear your stories and memories about your involvement with the organization,” she wrote.

“We are also calling all former members of Church Women United, the group that sponsored our founders, Agnes Beckwith and Sister Mary Begnigna, in receiving their training.

“The foundation of our current and future opportunities is a result of your commitment to the organization,” she stressed. “We are looking forward to hearing from you.”

She requests anyone formerly associated with the organization to call the Literacy Volunteers Bangor office at 947-8451 or e-mail lvbangor@utc4.k12.me.us.
