BANGOR—

Sue Medley joined Literacy Volunteers of Bangor early this year as part-time Assistant to the Executive Director. Sue is currently President of Gladjean Consulting, Inc., a consulting firm specializing in organizational, group and team dynamics; personnel development; communication and leadership training; and project management. She holds a bachelor's degree in Preprofessional Studies/Government and International Relations from the University of Notre Dame and an MBA in International Business from Kansas State University. "Sue's team-centered approach to solving challenges along with her energy and professionalism are critical as the number of low literate adults that we serve continues to grow," says Executive Director Mary Marin Lyon.

Since 1969, LV-Bangor has worked to improve the lives of Bangor-area residents who have literacy barriers that affect their social, economical, and educational opportunities. Volunteers receive training to either assist an adult who is improving their reading and/or is learning to speak English as another language. In 2009, LV-Bangor will celebrate its 40th year of service and its distinction as the first Literacy Volunteers affiliate outside its home state of New York.

Adults interested in volunteering or improving their literacy are encouraged to call 947-8451 for more information, or visit online at www.lvbangor.org.
